

Education committee

Mission

The education committee wants to provide members with the best opportunities for continuing education, offer resources to candidates that enable them to prepare in the best way possible for their exams and promote the CFA charter at universities with the aim to convince students to enrol in the CFA program after their studies.

What do we do?

For members, the education committee collaborates with the Events committee to offer content driven events that qualify for CE credits. In addition, we aim to promote the participation in the voluntary CE program and look to expand partnerships with providers of education, so as to offer members more opportunities for professional development.

For candidates, in addition to the prep events and mock exams, we also grant scholarships, enable candidates to set up study groups and inform them about the offerings from various exam prep providers.

For students, we organize the CFA Research Challenge and the Quant Awards. In addition, we try to be in university class rooms on a regular basis. This can be achieved by offering the ethics training at all universities in the Netherlands, but also through guest lectures. Aside from promotion at universities, we promote the CFA program to finance student associations and the like. Finally, we should develop a social media strategy, as this is probably the easiest way to reach students and inform about the benefits of the CFA program.

How could you help us?

- (Help to) organize one of the events
- Be a mentor or grader for the CFA Research Challenge
- Provide a guest lecture at a university or student association
- Proctor during a part of one of the mock exams
- Develop and maintain the relationship with one of our partner universities
- Develop a social media strategy to reach students and inform them about the CFA program
- Find new educational partners so we expand our offering of educational content
