

Michael A. Neely, CFA, is a senior investment strategist in Vanguard Institutional Investor Group. In his current role, Mr. Neely is responsible for providing consultants and plan sponsors Vanguard's views on the markets, economy, investment trends and products, and defined contribution investment best practices. Before this position, Mr. Neely was an internal auditor in Vanguard Internal Audit, where he had responsibility for assessing the risks and controls of Vanguard internal and external investment managers.

Mr. Neely earned a B.S. in finance and accounting from Villanova University, and Executive MBA from Columbia Business School. He is a member of the CFA Institute and CFA Society Philadelphia.

Since joining CFA Society Philadelphia in 2011, Mr. Neely has volunteered in a number of Society activities, committees, and initiatives, including the Programs Committee, and currently Chairs the CFA Equity Research Challenge. Mr. Neely is passionate about family, travel, investments, leadership, and youth initiatives. In his spare time, Mr. Neely enjoys spending time with his wife and newborn daughter.