

Dear CFA Community, global partners, and international colleagues,

Today, Ukraine is defending the freedom of the entire civilised world. Ammunition, bombs and rockets are striking our civil buildings. Our men, women and children are being killed. Just few weeks ago, none of us could have even imagined how our lives would change and that something so terrible is possible in the 21st century.

We can feel your support, we know that you are worried about us and our families. Thank you for that. Now, we need all the possible support for our army so it can defend us and save us from death. They are fighting to defend us; without them, we will not survive, Ukraine will not survive. We are proud of our armed forces, but we also understand that they need our support along with lots of humanitarian needs.
